About Rowan.

"I believe great content is above all else, useful to the reader. This content must be both engaging and informative. It must capture the audience's attention and hold it. It informs and relates to the consumer on multiple levels across a range of targeted demographics and leaves them enlightened, inspired or stimulated in the way the producer intended."

Rowan Schindler is a journalist, writer, communicator, photographer, videographer and storyteller.

An aspiring adventurer and devotee of the round ball game, if he isn't chained to a desk he can be found hanging from a cliff or skiing down mountains. He constantly drives himself to get out of his comfort zone in order to experience the richness of life. Rowan has worked for organisations such as the Australian Broadcasting Corporation (Sunshine Coast), The Sunshine Coast Daily, 111.6AM 4BC Brisbane radio, Logan 101FM radio, Regional Development Australia (Sunshine Coast Inc.) and the University of the Sunshine Coast.

Nature and culture combine to deeply touch the innermost soul, writes Rowan Schindler

SAT at the table in awe of the story I was listening to. It involved a hammer, wood chisel and a froilattien too. I could barely contain my amazement, and tried to act casually by sipping my hot, black tea. Stories of pure cold that bites deep into your bones are as alien to me as this landscape. For a boy from the Sunshine Coast, the Canadian Arctic is another world.

ARCTIC ADVENTURE: Rowan Schindler on the frozen sea ice of the famous Northwest Passage in full arctic

Cold, hard realities on ice

THE arctic wind hit me, biting deep into my bones, through my parka and several layers of clothing. I felt like I was drowning in the frigid ocean, it was sapping the approaching, probably a white-out. We lept onto snowmobile and blazed back towards town. Soon we were engulfed pure white. The term "w
